We invite you to participate at this promotional - educational event and with the presentation of your business and environmental products and services realize good commercial results.

As a specialized manifestation of business profile in the exhibition area, Ecology Fair encompasses environmental protection through the presentation of the following segments:

- Equipment, devices and means for recycling and environmental protection,
- Eco- Projects,
- Ecological food,
- Alternative energy resources,
- Monitoring systems for environmental monitoring,
- Nature conservation, national parks and natural resources management,
- Renewable energy,
- Equipment and funds for the protection and regulation of urban settlements, natural rarities, architectural and cultural heritage,
- Ecological associations, schools, professional associations,
- Strategies, projects and educational programs for environmental protection and protection of nature.

This traditional event in addition to commercial and exhibition part, through programs and promotions, brings together eminent names in the field of environmental protection, from Montenegro and the region. Quality program is designed on the basis of proposals and suggestions of relevant ministries, professional associations, institutions and all interested entities.

Participating at the event, in addition to commercial and promotional effects, gives you the opportunity to position your business within the modern trend of encouraging environmental awareness.
